

ABSTRACT

The present invention is directed to an item of jewelry comprised of a ring with shank, where the shank defines a disk opening. A message disk is mounted within the disk opening. The message disk is rotatable, transversely to the shank within the disk opening, so as to display an inscription thereon.